THE CRITICISM OF CARLISLE

Why the Secretary is Not Popular in New York.

In reference to the New York criticism of Carlisle, the Washington correspondent of the St. Louis Republic says:

For the first time in a great many years the Secretary of the Treasury will not be a guest at the annual banquet of the New York Chamber of Commerce this year. It is no secret that the relations between Mr. Carlisle and the financial magnates of New York are far from pleasant. It has been customary for Secretaries of the Treasury to be frank and responsive to the suggestions and demands of what is generally termed the business element of New York. Under the former administration of President Cleveland, there was no complaint against the Secretary of the Treasury on the part of New York business men. Daniel Manning was a banker himself, and placed himself almost universally in the hands of the money magnates of New York. Under Mr. Manning's successor, the Hon. Charles S. Fairchild, never thought of doing anything without feeling the pulse of New York first. All the Republican Secretaries of the Treasury since Salmon P. Chase's time have been as obedient to Wall street as if they served that little clique alone instead of the entire people of this whole country.

Mr. Carlisle is different. He is a man of great intellectual attainments and is believed by many people capable of judging to be the greatest philosopher and constructive statesman this country has produced in half a century. He served long as a member of the House of Representatives, for six years he was Speaker of the House, for three years a Senator of the United States. No man, perhaps, has so thoroughly enjoyed the confidence of and the esteem of the American people. Those who differed from him in politics acknowledged his great ability, and those who questioned his judgment admitted that there were reasons and arguments always in Carlisle's position.

He has been seriously considered by his party as a proper candidate for President of the United States, when Cleveland became President for the second time the people of the country with singular unanimity recognized the wisdom of his choice when he selected Mr. Carlisle for the head of the Treasury Department. As a member of both houses of Congress the business element of the country, irrespective of section or location, approved his statesmanship, admired his wisdom and ability, and as far as they could endorse the principles of the Democratic party, they endorsed Mr. Carlisle.

Before he was long in the Treasury Department, however, it became evident that he was not satisfactory to the New York money bags, and before he was there six months it was clear that Wall street had sentenced him to destruction. The reason is simple. Mr. Carlisle as Secretary of the Treasury has done his own thinking. He sought to make the Eastern people understand that the Treasury Department was merely an arm of the Government and was established for the convenience and benefit of the whole people of the whole country, and not as an agency for the enrichment of a certain class.

Perhaps the correspondence which has taken place between Mr. Carlisle and the financial magnates of the east will be published some day. Then the heroic struggles that Carlisle engaged in the interests of the people of the country and against the absorption of wealth of the country by a certain class, will be known and understood. Time and again Mr. Carlisle has defied Wall street. Time and again has Wall street hurled at him his shanders of excommunication, threatened panics, financial wrecks, destruction, unless the Secretary conformed to its wishes.

Mr. Carlisle is as zealous as Mr. Cleveland or any other American citizen in the belief that the credit of the Government must be maintained; that all our money in circulation must be kept at an equal value; that there must not be depreciation of one kind of currency and appreciation of another kind; he is opposed on principle to issuing bonds in time of peace and also recognizes the necessity of issuing bonds under certain circumstances.

THE NEW SENATE.

The New States to be Admitted Will Cut An Important Figure.

A point that has been overlooked in computing the political complexion of the next Senate is the admission of Utah, with two United States Senators. The act of the last session of Congress admitting Utah providing that in March, 1895, the constitutional convention shall be held. On the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November of that year the constitution is to be submitted to the people, and if ratified and found by the President to be in accordance with the act, he will issue a proclamation admitting it as a State. The act also provides that a Representative to the Fifty-fourth Congress shall be elected at the same time the vote is taken on the Constitution; also that the State officers and a Legislature shall be chosen, and that if the Constitution is ratified the Legislature shall immediately meet and elect two United States Senators. As there is about a month from the time the election is held until the 5th Congress meets, there will be an effort made to have all the formalities complied with and Utah proclaimed a State in time for its Senators and Representatives to participate in the organization of the next Congress.

This would make in all 90 Senators and as the next Senate now stands, the politics of the Utah Senators would cut an important figure. Another probability which arises is the admission of both New Mexico and Arizona, which may be accomplished in time, so that four Senators would participate in the organization of the next Senate. Bill's have already passed the House for the admission of both these Territories. The Senate Committee on Territories have reported them favorably to the Senate, and they are now on the calendar. Senators of both parties have been urging their passage, and it is more than likely that neither party would oppose them because of the effect it would have upon the elections, as the people are anxious for admission and would resent opposition by any party to that end. It is, therefore, quite likely that the battle for the control of the Senate will yet be fought out in Utah, New Mexico and Arizona next year. The admission of these new States would make a total of ninety four Senators and any party to control would need forty eight for a majority. With the Vice President the Democrats would control the Senate with 47 Senators.

You Should Get It.

Should get what? why the Rev. Mr. Hicks' splendid Almanac for 1895. He has kindly sent to this office a copy of the same, and we speak advisedly in saying that is a rare publication—the very latest and best of all that has emanated from the pen, and brain, and heart of this well known friend of the public. The history of this man's work—now an open book to all America, and a casual glance at his Almanac for 1895, convinces us that this vitally useful and instructive book ought to find its way into every shop, store, office, and home in the land. The price of the book—only 25 cents—could not be more profitably invested for anything more profitable. It contains 84 pages, printed on fine book paper, with elegant covers in colors. It is for sale by all news-dealers. This fine Almanac is given as a premium to every yearly subscriber to the Rev. Mr. Hicks' well known and deservedly popular Word and Works. This unique journal is the principal educator of the masses, and is fast becoming a household guardian and necessity in the homes of Americans. Those who want to keep up with all the advanced thoughts of the age, in science, religious, and all social, commercial, intellectual, and domestic subjects should subscribe for Word and Works. Subscription only $1 a year. You can send for both direct to Word and Works Publishing Co., St. Louis, Mo.

ting for our lives. Against this screen of shining sky and earth, where the little bird voices sound like carillons, is drawn the dark picture of man's low development, his moral backwadness, his incompetence in creating order on the pattern of this lovely nature. But the perfect beauty of our American autumn seems to bid us enjoy a Sabatical rest for the soul, to put away dark thoughts and brooding care, and to rise from nature's land into the haven of peace and rest, where there is fruition rather than promise, attainment as the reward of aspiration and struggle; we would come into harmony with the rhythm of the world that pulse through the planets like the ebb and dyssole of a beating heart. The impulse of love, and worship, and gratitude for all this beauty is an unformulated prayer. On the one side it merges a sense of the well being, on the other into the raptures of the psalmist and poet. The old Hebraic writers had it in their blood, an ever present joy in the beauty of the world.

What would become of us had we not this great resource, this escape through Nature's door from the discord and the moral ugliness in which we often seem merged, and swallowed up? We must go back to the ancient dawn, to the morning and the evening and the stars, to find that large inclusiveness of plan that reconciles us to life. The sky seizes us with its comfortable bend and protection, the hills girdle round with compensation, the forest trees, in their sturdy self pose, give us comfort; every color and sound is for our blessing; the undulating sod under foot, the sound of gurgling water, all communicate in subtle ways the blood and brain and heart, all restore and bless. This beauty, which we forget until it is pressed home upon us, and comes often in the light of a new discovery, we may yet find holds the deepest secret of our development, is at the core of the moral as of the physical world. The religion of the old earth such as Thoreau held, though it had its pagan side, still more empirically had its Christian side. Without the Christian consciousness, whether actual or potential, nature loses its coherence. It has detached words, but no poem. To feel the eternity of beauty we must feel the eternity of soul; we must read love into it or find it there. The feeling that this earth revelation is a scripture ever writing under our eyes is essential to intimacy with its spirit. This knowledge is not taught in the schools, but holds unconsciously to our deepest convictions. The intimate lover is worlds away from the stranger. Light and darkness, summer and winter, snow and rain, tell him things they never think of revealing to a careless observer. And often the playmate of earth and sky is shy of his intimacy. He knows there are few to understand him. His raptures are not those of the man on change in the counting house or behind the desk. He can not reveal what the robins, and wrens, and squirrels say to him. He has learned their language through love, and there are few who understand the speech of the woods and fields. It is not a new discovery that monkeys talk. Every kind and sort of creature talks, and has modes of communication. If you get acquainted with Nature's freemasonry, you may take thousands of degrees and not exhaust the wonders and surprises. Can we intoxicate ourselves too much with nature's wine?

The second large dike in the Ohio river at Caseyville was completed Saturday by the Kirk company, which had the work in charge. The good effects of the last dike are already noticeable, and it is the opinion of Government Engineer M. W. Venable that the large island near the Kentucky shore will eventually be cut away by the force of the current. This, with the new low water channel which has been deepened between the island and the Kentucky side, will remove to a great extent the trouble hitherto experienced low water. The new channel is fully 300 feet wide. The government boat Woodruff is now clearing it of all snags and will blast and remove an immense rock which formerly scared pilots from that route. The pilot Alex Perry steamed up the new channel yesterday.—Evansville Courier.

LIFE SAVED BY

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

Seven years ago, my wife had a severe attack of lung trouble which the physician pronounced consumption. The cough was extremely distressing, especially at night, and was frequently attended with fits of vomiting. The doctor's lungs were unable to help her. I induced her to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and was surprised at the instant relief it gave. Before using one whole bottle, she was cured, so that now she is quite strong and healthy. That this medicine saved my wife's life, I have not the least doubt." —K. MORRIS, Memphis, Tenn.

ONE YEAR - ONE DOLLAR

In a number of town elections in Massachusetts Tuesday the Democrats were winners. Small favors are thankfully received in these perilous times.

The Board of Magistrates of Livingston county have appropriated $2,500 to repair the county jail. Evidently the board is not in sympathy with the effort to move the county seat.

As a usual thing an idle boy, after being soundly spanked for any of his shortcomings, works like chained lightning for a little while. The present Congress, however, may be an exception to the rule.

If Mr. Watterson would stay as near the middle of the Democratic road on the silver question as he does on tariff matters, he would be near the hearts of the entire Kentucky Democracy.

Now if the Democratic House and Senate will tackle the currency with the courage of men in a desperate shape, they may bring order out of chaos. They can not make matters worse, and should show their hands.

The State Treasurer commenced paying claims against it again Saturday. For a few weeks the State has been in the predicament our county is always in, behind, and people who had claims had to wait or discount their claims. The reduction of the tax from 47 1-2 cents to 42 1-2 has caused the deficiency.

In Bell county several teachers were permitted to begin schools without first securing certificates, and Supt. of Public Instruction Thompson has thrown consternation into their ranks by deciding that they can draw no pay. As no examination can be held until June, the schools will go without teachers.

The business men of Denver, Colorado, have asked the governor that the gambling houses be permitted to open up again. Really after all, if we are to judge by this request, the Lord did too much for Colorado, even in providing such a poor governor as Wait. If this paper has ever said any mean things about Wait, it is ready to apologize.

Joe Blackburn would make a stronger race for governor than any other man in the commonwealth. If he could be induced to lay aside the Senatorial togs and go into the gubernatorial race, the fur would fly, not only in the contest for the Democratic nomination, but in the final round up with Bradley, or anybody else who might oppose the Democracy.

It seems that Messrs. Kirk and Lynn have inaugurated a plan peculiarly their own to regulate the school teachers of the country. It is not known whether or not they have taken out letters patent on the scheme, but by the time the law get through with them no one will want to use their invention, and the chances are that it will be some years before they are inclined to rub the rust off of their brilliant idea.

Kohl took the oath as Governor of Alabama Friday; Col. Oats not only took the oath, but the office also. Kohl's plan is to be as much of a governor as he can, and at the proper time give to Reeves a certificate as United States Senator from Alabama, and will issue similar credentials to the four or five contesting congressional candidates. Governor Oats will sign the certificates of the gentlemen declared elected, and it is the calculation of Kohl that the Republicans and Populists in the House will set his men and thereby recognize him as governor.

A Washington correspondent says: "For ten years Col. Stone, of Kentucky, has been on the Committee on War Claims. The calendar is loaded down with bills reported from that committee, just as it has been during all of the sessions in which Colonel Stone has served."

"I am not a lawyer," he said today, "but it seems to me that something ought to be done about the claims against the government. I think a law ought to be passed defining the claim, and then every claimant ought to be allowed to bring suit in the United States district court for the district in which the claimant lives. The judgment of the court, if the claim is allowed, should be certified to the Secretary of the Treasury, who should include the amount in his estimate and then Congress should appropriate the money. This is a practical, sensible way of disposing of the claims against the government. It involves no expense, it is honest to every one, and it would be appropriate to any lobby around Congress."

The Board of Magistrates of Livingston county have appropriated $2,500 to repair the county jail. Evidently the board is not in sympathy with the effort to move the county seat.

Resolutions of Respect.
At a meeting of the resident ministers of Marion, Dec. 5, 1894, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, It has pleased the great and good Shepherd to call from his labors here one of the under shepherds, Bro. J. V. Guthrie. Therefore resolved—

1. That while we bow in submission to the will of Him who doeth all things well, we lament the loss of an earnest, consecrated and efficient co-laborer in the Master's vineyard.

2. In the death of Bro. Guthrie, not only the particular branch of the church which he represented, but the church at large in this community has suffered a great loss.

3. That we extend our hearty sympathies to his wife so sorely bereaved, to the many friends who lament his loss, and to the flock now left without the tender care of an affectionate shepherd.

(Furnished by Glover & Durrett, Louisville Tobacco Warehouse.)

Sales on our market for the week just closed amount to 1173 lbs with receipts for the same period of 451 lbs. Sales on our market since Jan 1st amount to 149,285 lbs. Sales of the crop of 1893 on our market to this date amount to 147,506 lbs.

The offerings on our market this week embrace 21 lbs of new dark tobacco which sold at very satisfactory prices considering the quality of the tobacco. There is no change to report during the week in values for old dark tobacco, either leaf or lugs.

The present favorable handling weather will no doubt be followed by large receipts at an early day.

The following quotations fairly represent our market for dark tobacco, 1893 crop:

Trash, 2.00 to 3.25
Common to med. lugs, 3.00 to 3.75
Dark rich lugs, ex. qual. 3.75 to 5.50
Common leaf, 4.25 to 5.50
Medium to good leaf, 5.50 to 6.50
Leaf extra length, 6.50 to 8.00
Wrapery style, 7.50 to 10.00

LEVIAS.

I do not know that would say and prove it, that our town is fairly "in the pust," but it is surely "on the go." In fact go and going, went and gone, has not only been the order of the day but of days. But I suppose there is consolation in the fact of having room to spread ourselves, if we desire a spread.

The drummers have been pretty thick in our village the past week, but "Uncle Lal" is by far the thickest.

SHADY GROVE.

Nothing strange or comical to record this week. Most of the corn has been gathered, and a good many are feasting on spare ribs and sausage.

The late rain has ended the worst water famine this section has experienced within the memory of the oldest citizen.

Our people are doing some much needed and very commendable work on the cemetery—cleaning off the rubbish and having a wire fence put around it. Mr. John C. Brown, with a new patent, builds the wire part. It will be a beautiful resting place for the "sleeping dead."

Our physicians, Drs. Todd and McConnell, have an unusual amount of practice just now.

H. A. Hodge, drummer man, was here Tuesday with a whole lot of "foot wear." That is consistent to the Henry; he was always a friend to the "barefooted yeomanry."

The near approach of the justices' courts has made some breeze in the legal line. But when "neighbors meet each other on the way" and a compromise is effected, then the courts and "legal sights" are discomfited. So mote it be.

Jerry Daughtry is commander of the mail and freight train from Marion and all intermediate points, to this place.

Mr. Jim Boon, of the firm of Dol lar, Woodall & Co., says that tobacco is low, but he will give the top prices.

Lately, the writer in company with C. H. McConnell, went to the house of Esq. Geo. F. Williams on legal business, and when that was dispatched we were cordially invited to the parlor, where the "Squire" with his violin and his daughter on the organ discoursed some of the most soul stirring music we had had the pleasure of listening to for many a day. The home seemed all that home could be "without a mother."

Junius.

There were "showers of blessings," in this vicinity Friday and Saturday.

The farmers are cheered up considerably and they think "the way is growing brighter."

Mrs. Eliza Lucas, of Weston, visited Mr. Eli Nunn's family last week.

Miss Maggie Cain returned home to spend Thanksgiving.

There were a few mistakes in printing the programme in the last week's PRESS, I would like to correct: Give your plan of conducting a physiology, and not a philosophy lesson, by E. J. Travis. The names are A. A. Casper, W. A. Blackburn, C. B. Hinck, and Miss Cleo Nunn.

School is progressing nicely.

Miss Mina Wheeler has not visited us yet, but we are still looking for her.

Mrs. H. L. Sullivan and son, Wirt Spurrier, spent several days last week visiting Albert Lucas and family.

Miss Eva Nunn spent Thanksgiving with Miss Alice Black, near Sturgis.

Willie Martin is conducting a singing class at Bells Mills.

Miss Julia Truitt, Ella Sullivan, George Truitt and your correspondents spent Thanksgiving night at John N. Truitt's, where we were highly entertained. It will be a long time to remember by us, for the pleasant hospitality shown us by the pleasant family.

Mr. Smith Newcomb was in our midst Sunday.

We are proud to know that our mail route from Weston to Repton has again been renewed.

Charlie Wilson has returned home from a visit to Monroe county where he has been attending to some business.

H. L. Culver and W. S. Hicklin are now engaged in the stock business.

J. T. Lamb is having a new house built.

Robert Sullivan has moved to his farm near John Nunn's.

John White who has been confined to his bed for several months is able to be up again.

Chums.

Any one who has children will rejoice with L. B. Mulford, of Plainfield, N. J. His little boy, five years of age, was sick with croup. For two days and nights he tried various remedies recommended by his friends and neighbors. He says: "I thought sure I would lose him. I had seen Chamberlain's Cough Remedy advertised and thought I would try it as a last hope, and am happy to say that after two doses he slept until morning. I gave it to him the next day and a cure was effected.

We sell more of it than any other cough medicine we handle and it always gives satisfaction."

For coughs, cold and croup it is without an equal. For sale by Moore & Orme.

DYCUSBURG.

Rev. H. B. Fox is conducting a very successful revival at the Baptist church. He is doing some excellent preaching and all are being benefited.

Dr. E. E. Newcom, formally of Frances, is now permanently located here.

S. H. Cassidy, Marion Simmons and Mary Alice Pickering have been very sick but all are some better.

Work has begun on the new Baptist church, and we hope to soon have a new church.

Miss Marion Richards is at home on a visit.

Miss Maggie Moore is visiting friends in town.

S. H. Cassidy & Co., are having an addition built to their tobacco factory here.

H. A. Hodge, drummer man, was here Tuesday with a whole lot of "foot wear."

The late rain has ended the worst water famine this section has experienced within the memory of the oldest citizen.

A little child of Charley Flanary was badly hurt Sunday by being thrown from a buggy.

THE PROCTER & GAMBLE CO., CINCINNATI.

Thanks, Gentlemen.

There are a few hundred people who owe the Press from $1 to $4; the amount is small, and they rarely think of it. This is simply to remind them of the fact, and at the same time we desire to say that we would appreciate the payment of the same, as the money is needed. A dollar here and a dollar there is not much to each individual, but when they are considered in the aggregate, it is a pretty good sized amount to the Press. We acknowledge the receipt of subscriptions from the following persons, and we hereby tender our thanks for same:

- P. A. Howerton, Marion, Ky.
- M. V. Morrill, " "
- A. Dean, " "
- M. T. Worley, " "
- T. W. Dillins, " "
- Brooks,
- E. B. Graves, Macomb, Mo.
- W. B. Stembidge, Shady Grove.
- E. M. Johnson, Princeton, Ky.
- H. H. Mayes, Shady Grove, Ky.
- T. L. Dean, Pecos, Texas.
- Alex Woody, Mattoon, Ky.
- H. P. Brown, Levias, Ky.
- A. L. Alley, Salem, Ky.
- Nannie Metcalfe, New Grand Chain.
- Ed. B. Haynes, Ft. Reno, Okla.

K. P. Supper.

Blackwell Lodge Knights of Pythias gave its annual Thanksgiving banquet Thursday night. The beautiful hall room, owned by the lodge, was the scene of the festivities. Seventy covers were spread, and the gallant Knights, with their mothers, sisters, wives and sweethearts, spent two hours around the tables, enjoying the edibles and speeches.

J. W. Blue, Jr., delivered a short address, extending the hospitalities of the occasion to the fair guests. The following were the toasts responded to—

"Benefits of the Order," A. C. Moore.

"Pythian Goat," R. C. Walker. "Friendship," Rev. W. H. Miley. "Woman," H. A. Haynes.

It was a pleasant affair.

Blackwell Lodge was organized with twelve members seven years ago; and since that date it has had a steady growth, and now has a membership of more than sixty.

Guilty, But Gone.

Friday George White and his pal, the river tramps, charged with hog stealing, were before Judge Moore, for trial. It appeared from the evidence that a hog had been stolen and that it got aboard White's shanty boat; the warrant charged the accused with stealing Nick Bridges' hog, but no witness was in court to show whose property was stolen, and the court had to discharge the tramps, notwithstanding it appeared they were guilty.

Nick Bridges, of Carrsville, was summoned as a witness, but he failed to appear. It was stated that Nick had compromised with the tramps, they paying him three dollars for the hog. Judge Moore issued an attachment for Bridges, and he will be placed under a one hundred dollar bond to answer the charge of contempt of court.

Judge J. P. Pierce's trip to Missouri last week was to see William Goode, the famous poor house keeper, lately of this county. Goode went off in a hurry and forgot to settle certain debts that were and are still hanging over him. Judge Pierce got to see him, but Goode was still in a hurry, and when he recognized Pierce moved on so hurriedly that he could not be encumbered with a couple of wagons and a yoke of oxen. The Judge accepted these as hostages and returned home.

SHAMEFUL OUTRAGE.

der went down to resume her work. Pierce came home Sunday evening, and then for the first time his friends learned of the affair.

There is not a better boy in Crittenden county than Collin Pierce. He is one of the most religious boys in the country; he claims sanctification and his conduct for a few years past is absolutely above reproach in every particular. He says he accepted the course he did because the spirit led him that way, that had he chosen to leave the school and come home, the men might have overtaken and killed him in the woods. His blameless character, gentle disposition, and his simple, trusting faith in God, make the conduct of the men more heinous. Warrants were issued Monday charging old man Lynn and his two sons, Jim Kirk and his two sons, with unlawfully conspiring and banding together, going forth armed, and alarming and intimidating and foreclosing young Pierce to a beating with hickories. Sheriff Franks and Marshal Loyd spent Monday and Tuesday in that section and succeeded in putting all the parties under bond, but Dink Lynn, the examining trial will be before Judge Moore next Saturday.

Teeth Extracted Without Pain.

Dr. M. D. Halsey, of Lexington, who has extracted teeth for more than Eight Thousand people within the last four years, without the slightest accident or injury to the patient will be at Marion Hotel, in Marion for 4 days, beginning Dec. 14. At this time Dr. Halsey will, for the first time introduce his Antiseptic Restorative to the public. And in order to save a large amount of newspaper advertising, and to bring this medicine before the people as rapidly and cheaply as possible, hereafter all who purchase a certain amount of this Restorative may have their teeth extracted free of charge, but no others. Within the past year the doctor has made valuable improvements in the painless extraction of teeth, and for the past eight months has extracted at a uniform price of one dollar per tooth, and even at these figures has been obliged to turn away many for want of time. By the present arrangement the public get the Antiseptic Restorative, which is worth more than its costs, and will also get their teeth extracted, and all at an expense but little more than one half of what the doctor has been charging for extracting teeth alone. Do not wait until the last days of the doctor's visit. All interested should meet the doctor at this visit as he will not extract teeth very much longer, but will give his time to making his medical preparations and dental instruments.

Those who dress warmly and wrap up the face need not fear taking cold after extracting, even in winter. For description of the Restorative see hand bills. Dr. Halsey will be remunerated as being in Marion something more than a year ago.

CAUGHT AT LAST.

J. W. Allen, the Webster Rapist, Behind the Bars.

AT MORGANFIELD FOR SAFE KEEPING.

Morganfield, Ky., Dec. 3.—J. C.

Allen, the man who so brutally outraged Mrs. Hicks, near Nebo, last week, and afterwards tried to murder her, has at last been caught and was tightly brought to this place by the sheriff of Webster county for safe keeping. So strong were the apprehensions of the officers that an attempt would be made to lynch the prisoner, that several heavily armed deputies accompanied them and are guarding the prisoner at the jail. It is stated that a mob has already organized to hang Allen, and it is confidently predicted that he will never live to see the light of another day.

Feeling in Webster county, where the crime was committed, is very high, and there is no disposition in these parts to shield the perpetrator of so heinous a crime.
